TEACHING FACULTY CREDENTIALING CERTIFICATION: POLICY CONTENTS

Norfolk State University employs competent faculty members who are well qualified to accomplish the mission and goals of the University. When hiring faculty to teach courses, the University gives primary consideration to the highest degree earned. The University also considers competence, effectiveness, and capacity, including, as appropriate, undergraduate and graduate degrees in the discipline (or related discipline), work experiences in the field, professional licensure and certifications, honors and awards, continuous documented excellence in teaching, and other demonstrated competencies and achievements that contribute to effective teaching and student learning outcomes that are in alignment with the mission of the University.

Academic Affairs is ultimately responsible for the verification and validation of all credentialing requirements for the Teaching (Instructional) Faculty of the University.

1. The department chair is responsible for certifying, verifying, and validating faculty credentials for any assigned course that falls within the jurisdiction of that department. The certification process is completed by submitting the following documents to the Division of Academic Affairs.

- Current curriculum vita

- Official academic transcript(s) of highest degree earned and/or master’s degree with a minimum of 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline or related teaching discipline.

  Degrees must have been conferred from regionally accredited colleges or universities. Additionally, degrees/credentials from international institutions must be evaluated to determine the U.S. equivalency.

It is the responsibility of the prospective faculty member to provide the official transcript(s) or evaluation of credentials (by a credible company or organization) from international institutions.

– An official transcript must have the following: the University’s official seal; the signature of the University’s registrar or designee; the University’s watermark or other official identifier; the date of issuance; and the date the degree was conferred, if listed on the Certification Form.

– Degree evaluations must have the following: the company’s or organization’s official seal or watermark or letterhead; the signature of the company’s designee or other official identifier; the date of issuance; and the date the degree was conferred, if listed on the Certification Form.

• Certification of Credentials Form

The Teaching (Instructional) Faculty Credentials Certification form must be signed by both the prospective faculty member and the department chair. The affixed signature of the prospective faculty member certifies that all entries are true and complete and agreement to the condition that any falsification of information, regardless of time of discovery, may cause forfeiture of employment at the University.

• Letter of application

• Official Commonwealth of Virginia application form

• Three letters of recommendation (signatures required) or documentation of three references checked by the hiring department

• Permission to verify previous employment

• Permission to conduct a criminal background check

• Official documentation of professional work experience, technical and performance competency, records of publications and certifications or other qualifications as reflected on the completed Teaching (Instructional) Faculty Credentials Certification form prior to recommending the prospective faculty member (full-time or part-time) for employment; and by listing the graduate courses (a minimum of 18 credits) in the teaching area(s)/discipline that qualify the faculty member to teach within the specified discipline. Faculty hired to teach graduate courses must have the terminal degree or the equivalent of the terminal degree in the teaching discipline or related teaching discipline.
2. In extraordinary cases, teaching faculty appointments may be conferred on persons not holding the master's degree in the teaching discipline or related teaching discipline or the 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline or related teaching discipline. These cases are not the norm. These appointments are only approved if such persons have demonstrated outstanding professional or creative accomplishments and are nationally or internationally renowned. Exceptions must have prior approval from the Division of Academic Affairs. The department chair will seek approval through the dean. If an exception is approved, the department chair will complete an "Alternative Justification Form" with supporting documentation.

3. The department chair forwards the Checklist and Certification Form for New Hire and the completed packet to the dean for approval. If approved, the dean signs the form or submits a Memorandum/Letter of Approval and forwards the completed packet to the Division of Academic Affairs.

4. The Division of Academic Affairs reviews and certifies the academic credentials and notifies the dean and department head of hiring status. The academic credentials of the teaching (instructional) faculty member must be approved before employment.¹

When defining faculty qualifications using faculty credentials, the following guidelines should be used:

1. Faculty teaching general education courses at the undergraduate level: doctorate or master’s degree in the teaching discipline or master’s degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline (a minimum of 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline).

2. Faculty teaching associate degree courses designed for transfer to a baccalaureate degree: doctorate or master’s degree in the teaching discipline or master’s degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline (a minimum of 18 graduate semester hours in the teaching discipline).
