

SOCIOLOGY HONORS TRACK

The Sociology Honors program offers exceptional majors a more rigorous curriculum. The Honors curriculum is fully integrated within the General BA Sociology program. It requires that 15-credit hours of the student's Sociology and Criminal Justice courses have an Honors designation. The Sociology degree at Norfolk State investigates many distinctive perspectives of the social world. The discipline prepares students for social services and criminal justice post-graduate careers, which is a natural alignment for studying law. The students' Honors designation will be granted by the Robert C. Nausbaum Honors College as they will provide guidance and mentorship to the scholars.

Program Requirements:

| | | |
|-----------------------------|---|----|
| SOC 110H | Introduction to Sociology Honors | 3 |
| or CJS 200H | Introduction to Criminal Justice Honors | |
| SOC 228H | Demographic Principles Honors | 6 |
| or SOC 230H | Social Problems Honors | |
| or SOC 237H | Racial and Cultural Minorities Honors | |
| or CJS 220H | Juvenile Delinquency Honors | |
| or CJS 225H | Law Enforcement Honors | |
| or CJS 230H | Introduction to Corrections Honors | |
| or CJS 310H | Criminology Honors | |
| SOC 325H | International Business Honors | 3 |
| or SOC 331H | Social Psychology Honors | |
| or CJS 310H | Criminology Honors | |
| | Any other Honors Course | 3 |
| Total Credits | | 15 |