

Community Living Agreement

COMMUNITY STANDARDS PROMOTE SAFE, INCLUSIVE & AFFIRMING COMMUNITIES!

What is a residential community?

Residential community living is a unique experience. Your community is a place where you will find opportunities to grow as a person, test new ideas, learn new skills and learn the importance of being part of the community where you reside. You will probably see yourself differently when the year is over. You will make new friends, rediscover old ones and hopefully realize that life holds many possibilities. It is our hope that the changes and experiences you have in the residential communities will be positive ones, which will enhance your self-confidence and help you achieve independence.

As part of that independence, each community will be working together to establish community living standards. Residents of each community will help determine how each community will manage itself. Each community will meet on a monthly basis to discuss issues, community standards and any problems that might arise.

Is a Residential Community Living Agreement necessary?

To ensure a safe, inclusive and affirming residential community, you and your fellow residents must be accountable and responsible to each other. If there are things on your floor or within your community that you would like to see handled differently or you think that other members of your floor or community are not upholding the standards you set, it will be your responsibility as a community to discuss these issues.

Community living standards will not replace the University Student Code of Conduct or the Guide to Residential Living Handbook but will instead, work in conjunction with them to help make sure each community is a transformative environment conducive to living and learning for the students who live there. There are live-in staff in each building to assist you and help facilitate positive change. This staff is made up of a Resident Director (RD) and Resident Assistants (RAs). Additionally, each community has a designated Graduate Assistant (GA) and Front Desk Staff who will work with you to ensure your community is a good place to study, rest and socialize. RAs are students like you, who live on each floor and will act as facilitators as each community develops its own community living standards.

Am I responsible for being aware of community standards?

You and your fellow students will be responsible for the quality of life in your residential community during the coming year. You are expected to be familiar with policies and procedures, which have been established to guide student conduct. Remember, you are part of a community in an academic environment and being part of any community brings with it responsibilities, including courtesy, consideration and empathy.

COMMUNITY LIVING STANDARDS & CONDITIONS

Each community member must agree to live by the community standards set forth in order to ensure there are adequate measures in place to create and maintain a quality living and learning environment. Each resident must respect the community as a whole and abide by community standards when visiting other residents and/or when utilizing common area space.

In the event a community member is found in violation of the community standards, the resident will be subject to disciplinary action by Housing & Residence Life or if more serious in nature, will be subject to additional action being taken by University Police and the Dean of Students Office. Additional sanctions can include but are not limited to: expulsion, suspension, removal from housing and/or legal or criminal action.

I have read and understand the living and learning community principles and information and will abide by it during the 2018-2019 academic year.
