FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING SYSTEM POLICY CONTENTS

The University maintains its financial accounting through an automated financial system known as Colleague. The system is designed to record, classify, summarize and report financial data, in conformity with established accounting policies, resulting from the transactions at the University. All transactions must be entered into the Colleague system and processed on a current basis.

The University Controller has primary responsibility for establishment and maintenance of the University’s accounting system. When establishing accounts, consideration will be given to special needs of divisions, departments, and activities.

Each position that requires access to Colleague and related administrative systems must be granted the minimum level of access needed to perform the specific duties of the position. Access will only be granted after the appropriate authority has approved the request and any required training completed. Access that is no longer necessary will be removed in a timely manner. All documents supporting access requests will be stored in a secure location, whether on paper or electronic copy.
